What is Label Forum Japan

Label Forum Japan is a co-creation platform that connects technology, functionality, and sustainability within the label industry through its combination of an international conference and exhibition.

Recognized as Japan’s Leading Global Event for the Label Industry

The event was organized by the UK-based Tarsus Group—operator of the Labelexpo Global Series (to be rebranded as LOUPE in 2026)—with support from Label Shimbun, becoming Japan’s first professional event to connect the global and domestic label industries.

Since 2008, under a continuing partnership with Tarsus, Label Shimbun has taken over the event and renamed it Label Forum Japan.

With its three core elements—Conference, Exhibition, and VIP Reception—the forum has been held biennially, developing into a professional platform that drives technological innovation and market collaboration in Japan and beyond.

After a hiatus during the pandemic, the exhibition returned in 2024, relocating to Tokyo Big Sight, Japan’s largest exhibition venue.

With an increased focus on live equipment demonstrations, the event attracted a diverse range of exhibitors—including label converters and materials manufacturers—and achieved record numbers of visitors and participants.

The 2026 edition will further evolve into the only comprehensive event in Japan covering the entire label value chain, from raw materials and production to finished products.

In addition to expanding the area dedicated to label applications, the forum will offer a multifaceted view of “the value of labels.”

The long-awaited international conference will also return, marking a new stage for Japan’s label industry.

POINT

Highlights of Label Forum Japan 2026

1. Conference returns as the exhibition enters a new stage at Tokyo Big Sight

Label Forum Japan 2026 will once again take place at Tokyo Big Sight, following the previous edition. This time, the international conference will be held at Tokyo Big Sight’s largest conference venue, the International Conference Hall, over two days. Key speakers from Japan and overseas—including brand owners, label users, industry experts, label converters, and material suppliers—will share insights on current challenges and future directions toward a more sustainable label industry. In parallel, the exhibition will further expand its “Label Pavilion,” evolving into a showcase that covers the entire value chain—from label manufacturing to finished products. By combining live demonstrations and exhibits from both production and branding perspectives, the event aims to provide an even more comprehensive view of “the value of labels.”

2. Strengthening cross-industry synergy with other major exhibitions

By coinciding with major concurrent shows such as TOKYO PACK 2026 – The International Packaging Exhibition and Health Ingredients Japan 2026 (Hi Japan/ FiT Japan), Label Forum Japan 2026 will strengthen its cross-industry collaboration, connecting the label sector with the broader packaging and food industries.

This alignment is expected to increase visitor circulation and deliver greater business networking and information-sharing opportunities for all participants.

3. Expanded Label Pavilion — From label production to finished products

The 2026 exhibition will feature an expanded Label Pavilion, offering a comprehensive overview of the entire label production process through to final applications. Alongside printing and finishing technologies, the latest label products representing both manufacturing and branding perspectives will be presented, highlighting innovations in design, functionality, and value creation. A Label Contest, decided by on-site visitor voting, will also return—recognizing outstanding works and creative excellence across multiple categories, further showcasing the industry’s craftsmanship and technical capabilities.

4. Industry association’s annual convention held in conjunction — Strengthening networking

On the final day, October 16 (Friday), the 68th Annual Convention of the Japan Federation of Label Printing Associations (JFLP) will be held at the Reception Hall, Conference Tower, Tokyo Big Sight. The program includes an official ceremony and networking reception.

By coordinating its schedule with this major industry event, Label Forum Japan aims to further energize Japan’s label market and enhance networking opportunities among exhibitors, visitors, and industry professionals.
